Country	Type of Conflict	Began	Ended	Brief Description
Afghanistan	Complex ²	4/1978	— ³	In wake of unrest stemming from assassination of prominent opposition leader, Daoud regime is overthrown in left-wing military coup, followed by political purges of ruling circles and Soviet invasion (ARC ⁴ 4/78-12/79). Widespread insurgency by Mujahedeen (REV 4/78-4/92) factions provokes Soviet and Afghan Government tactics of systematic terror, destruction of villages, and execution of prisoners (GEN 4/78-4/92). Soviet-supported Najibullah regime falls after defection of General Dostam and his Uzbek militia. Mujahedeen forces enter Kabul and establish interim Taliban-controlled central government (ARC 4/92-9/96). Civil war continues among political factions based on Pashtun, Tajik, Uzbek, and Hazara ethnic groups, first, as Taliban attempts to extend its authority and, then, after Northern Alliance militias, backed by strong US and British air support, displace the collapsed Taliban regime in November 2001 (ETH 5/92-10/01, ARC 11/01-6/02). Mainly ethnic-Pashtun Mujahedeen and Taliban fighters continue to challenge secular central authorities from strongholds in south and east regions (REV from 11/01).
Albania	Complex	5/1996	5/1997	Third post-Communist parliamentary elections are marked by bloody police repression and electoral fraud. President Berisha attempts to consolidate political power but regime is undermined by poor performance (ARC 5/96). Collapse of pyramid investment schemes ignites simmering dissatisfaction. Capital and southern half of country engulfed in fighting, looting, and rioting. Tension is defused somewhat when Barisha is forced to resign and new elections are called (REV 3/97-5/97); war in neighboring Kosovo diverts attention from internal politics to external events.
Algeria	Complex	7/1962	12/1962	In wake of independence from France, Algerian militants attack Europeans and Muslim civilians who collaborated with French colonial authorities (REV 7/62-9/62, ETH 7/62-9/62, GEN 7/62-12/62).
	Complex	5/1991	12/2004	Efforts by ruling FLN (National Liberation Front) to ensure its electoral success through legislative gerrymandering trigger mass protests. Military increases its political influence in effort to prevent election of Islamicists. When Islamic Salvation Front wins elections, government cancels results (ARC 1/92). Islamic militants and military-government initiate intense terror campaigns designed to undermine each other's support bases (REV 5/91-12/04).
Angola	Complex	1/1975	3/2002	Post-independence civil war between Mbundu-dominated central government, Bakongo and Cabindan rebels, and UNITA (Union for the Total Independence of Angola), based on Ovimbundu people of south Angola (ETH 1/75-3/02, REV 1/75-3/02). Both UNITA rebels and government forces perpetrate destructive campaigns and atrocities against civilians throughout conflict (GEN 11/75-11/94). Internationally brokered peace plan leads to multi-party elections but UNITA's Savimbi rejects results and establishes rival government in Huambo (ARC 5/92-4/97). 1994 Lusaka protocol ends conflict for a short time but intense fighting erupts again in late 1998. Targeting of civilian populations resumes with the break down to civil war (GEN 12/98-3/02). Death of UNITA leader, Jonas Savimbi, in February 2002 is followed by a cessation of fighting in March and the signing of a new peace agreement in August 2002.
Argentina	Regime Change	6/1966	6/1966	Civilian government ousted by military coup in attempt to stem increasing influence of Peronists in electoral arena. State repression increases as urban violence escalates and falters.
	Complex	3/1976	12/1980	Domestic instability forces military regime to hold elections. Peronist victory ushers in period of political and social anarchy and military intervenes again (ARC 3/76). Military declares state of siege and death squads target suspected leftists in campaign of kidnappings, torture, murder, and "disappearances" (GEN 3/76-12/80).
Armenia	Regime Change	7/1995	9/1996	President Ter Petrossian suspends country's most influential opposition party. Electoral malpractice and government intimidation tarnish subsequent legislative and presidential elections.
Azerbaijan	Complex	8/1991	6/1997	Armenian rebellion to secure independence of Nagorno-Karabakh enclave checked by 6/97 ceasefire (ETH 2/88-6/97). ⁵ Post-Soviet democratic transition undermined by government instability, rebellion, and fraudulent presidential and legislative elections (ARC 6/93-11/95).

Political Instability Task Force (PITF) Consolidated Problem Set, Historical State Armed Conflicts and Regime Crises, 1955-2016¹

Country	Type of Conflict	Began	Ended	Brief Description
Bangladesh	Complex	12/1974	6/1991	Floods, famine, and breakdown of law undermine parliamentary democracy. Brief experiment with strong presidential rule ends as anti-Mujib officers stage coup (ARC 12/74-11/75). Separatist war waged by Shanti Bahini resists encroachments by Bengali settlers in the Chittagong Hills (ETH 8/76-6/91); fighting ends with autonomy agreement, followed by formal peace accord in November 1992.
	Regime Change	1/2007	1/2007	Increasing tensions between the ruling Bangladesh Nationalist Party (BNP) and the main opposition Awami League (AL) over the conduct of new parliamentary elections leads to a paralysis of the caretaker government and imposition of a military-backed State of Emergency on January 11, 2007. New elections are delayed while military government conducts "anti-corruption" campaign to diminish patronage structures built by party leaders Hasina and Zia.
Belarus	Regime Change	4/1995	11/1996	President Lukashenko orders troops to storm parliament building and dissolves legislature. Electoral regulations prohibit legislature from convening for eight months. Once quorum is achieved, President Lukashenko restricts its action.
Benin	Regime Change	10/1963	12/1965	Labor and ethnic tensions undermine fragile democracy. In attempt to quell political instability, military intervenes twice before finally abolishing democratic institutions and institutionalizing military rule.
	Regime Change	10/1972	10/1972	Regional rivalries force military to transfer power to civilian government. Ethnically diverse civilian coalition falls in second successful coup in three years and a Marxist-Leninist state is proclaimed.
Bosnia and Herzegovina	Complex ⁵	4/1992	12/1995	The breakup of the Yugoslav Federation leads to ethnonational conflict among Serb, Croat, and Muslim inhabitants of Bosnia and Herzegovina and failure of central authority (ETH 4/92-11/95, ARC 4/92-12/95). Muslim residents of Bosnia are subject to "ethnic cleansing" measures including destruction of property, forced resettlement, and execution mainly by Serb and some Croat forces (GEN 5/92-11/95). Dayton peace accord ends fighting after country has been de facto partitioned along ethnic lines; central government is established under international supervision.
Brazil	Regime Change	9/1961	10/1965	Inflation and radical reforms proposed by new President Joao Goulart trigger overthrow of a weakly institutionalized democratic government by the armed forces. Bureaucratic-authoritarian regime forcefully represses left-wing opposition.
Burkina Faso	Regime Change	11/1980	11/1980	Leader of former military regime, President Lamizana, elected as head of civilian government. Subsequent economic crisis and labor unrest triggers military coup and suspension of Constitution.
Burma (Myanmar)	Complex	3/1948	—	Karen, Kachin, Shan, Mon, Chin, and other non-Burman peoples fight for greater regional autonomy (ETH from 3/48). In 1962 political factionalism within ruling party and regional ethnic rebellions undermine democratic institutions and trigger military intervention. Military rule institutionalized in one-party socialist state (ARC 3/62-7/62, GEN 1/78-12/78). In 1988 students in Rangoon organize increasingly violent protests against military rule and make an unsuccessful attempt to form revolutionary coalition with ethnic rebels (REV 3/88-6/89).
Burundi	Complex	6/1963	12/1973	Unstable political alliance between Tutsis and Hutus produces democratic stalemate. King increases his authority but is unable to resolve ethnic tensions and is overthrown by the Tutsi-dominated military (ARC 6/63-11/66). Attempted coup by Hutu units in 1965 results in massacres of Tutsis in countryside, prompting Army to eliminate Hutu leaders, and in 1972 Hutus insurgents launch a coordinated attack against government authorities in the south and east (ETH 4/72-7/72). Challenges to Tutsi-dominated government by ethnic-Hutus results in ethnic massacres (GEN 10/65-12/73).
	Complex	8/1988	5/2005	Attempted democratic reforms prompt violence between historically dominant Tutsis and Hutu challengers (ETH 8/88-5/05). As result of rural violence against local Tutsi officials, Tutsi-dominated army conducts unpremeditated massacres of Hutus (GEN 8/88). In 1993, Hutu opposition forces win first multi-party presidential and legislative elections, provoking disaffected Tutsi military forces to revolt and assassinate the Hutu president (ARC 10/93-7/96). Subsequent armed clashes and massacres occur in three waves: Tutsi soldiers against Hutu civilians, Hutus against Tutsis, and Tutsi against Hutus (GEN 10/93-12/93). Arusha peace accords are signed by all parties except the FNL in July 2001 and establish an interim government. Most fighting has ended by May 2005 and elections are held that set up a power-sharing government.

Political Instability Task Force (PITF) Consolidated Problem Set, Historical State Armed Conflicts and Regime Crises, 1955-2016¹

Country	Type of Conflict	Began	Ended	Brief Description
	Regime Change	7/2015	7/2015	The ruling CNDD-FDD party announced on 25 April 2015 that they were naming President Pierre Nkurunziza as their candidate for scheduled presidential elections despite a constitutional two-term limit, triggering widespread protests and a 13 May 2015 coup attempt. The government proceeded with the controversial election and, despite an opposition boycott and low turnout, the incumbent was re-elected. Most opposition parties reject the outcome and violence persists in the aftermath.
Cambodia	Complex	3/1970	5/1991	Khmer Rouge insurgents, supported by North Vietnam, battle royalist government forces (REV 3/70-4/75). Once in power they initiate restructuring of society and central authority leading to massive deaths by starvation, deprivation, executions, and massacres of old regime supporters, city dwellers, and tribal peoples, particularly Muslim Chams (ARC 4/75-3/76; GEN 4/75-1/79). Vietnamese forces invade Cambodia in December 1978, drive out the Khmer Rouge, and install a new government. Khmer Rouge continues armed resistance, eventually joining forces with other opposition groups (REV 1/79-5/91). Resistance continues until a cease-fire is brokered in May 1991, followed by a peace settlement in October 1991.

Bozize succeeds in seizing power in March 2003 while Patasse is out of the country (ARC 3/03). Supporters of ousted President Patasse in the north face retribution from the Bozize regime which draws its support from southerners. Open rebellion breaks out in the northwest in June 2005 and, then, in October 2006 in the northeast (ETH 6/05-2/13). In December 2012, Islamist militant groups form a coalition called Seleka and begin to seize territories in the northeast (ETH from 12/12). Despite a peace agreement in February 2013, Seleka rebels forcibly oust the Bozize regime (ARC from 3/13) but are unable or unwilling to assert central authority and, instead, engage in predatory actions. Christian "anti-balaka" militias form in response and attempt to oust the Seleka rebels from the capital in December 2013. The Seleka rebels withdraw but "anti-balaka" militias systematically target Muslim communities for retribution (GEN from 12/13).
Chad	Complex	10/1965	10/1994	Recurring civil war among Chad's many communal groups with shifting alliances, but mainly along north-south lines (ETH 10/65-10/94). Failed attempt at national unification in 1978 leads to collapse of governance, intensified conflict, and international intervention (ARC 2/79-6/84).
	Revolutionary War	10/2005	4/2010	Dominance of the central government by President Déby's clan and ethnic-Zaghawa supporters led to a mutiny by elements of the army in October 2005, a coup attempt in March 2006, and an attack on the capital in April 2006. Failing to unseat the government, FUC rebel forces took refuge in border regions with Sudan and Central African Republic. A peace agreement with the rebels was reached in December 2006 and fighting largely ended in January 2007. The agreement quickly broke down and fighting resumed in areas bordering the Sudan; this round included a split in Déby's support base. A second attack on the capital was mounted in February 2008 but this attack also failed to unseat the Déby government. An agreement was reached between Chad and Sudan in late 2009 to normalize relations and cooperate in increasing security along their mutual border; armed clashes subsequently have diminished on both sides of the border.

Right-wing militias form in early 1982, including MAS and AUC. Increasingly widespread and lucrative drug trafficking permeates both rural and urban society. General amnesty, truce, and entry of Patriotic Union as legal party in 1984 fail to integrate leftist groups. Late in 2004, AUC demobilized nearly 3,000 fighters; government increases military pressure on leftist rebels.
Comoros	Regime Change	1/1976	1/1976	Twenty-eight days after the declaration of independence a coalition of six political parties known as the United National Front ousts the Abdallah government. Democratic governance ends with the designation of Ali Soilih as head of state.

Country	Type of Conflict	Began	Ended	Brief Description
	Complex	3/1992	—	Communal violence erupts in Shaba (Katanga) between Luba-Kasai minority and dominant Lunda; regional governments become more autonomous (ETH from 3/92). In reaction to absolute power wielded by Mobutu's military-backed government, pro-democracy opposition pressures him to appoint new prime minister and government (ARC 12/92-7/03). Tutsis residing in eastern Zaire form core of rebel army that, with substantial help from Rwanda, defeats government troops and ousts Mobutu's regime (REV 10/96-7/03). Disaffection with the policies of the nascent Kabila regime leads to the polarization of ethnic-militias, failure of central authority, and the widening of the conflict to include armed forces from regional states. Power-sharing agreement reestablishes central authority in July 2003 and integrates key militias in the central army but sporadic, ethnic armed conflict continues in outlying regions, especially the north and east.

	Revolutionary War	1/2011	—	Inspired by popular protests in Tunisia, Egyptian liberal and Islamist activists hold mass demonstrations against the Mubarak regime and are met with lethal repression. The protests lead to Mubarak's resignation on 11 February 2011 and initiate a democratic transition; presidential elections result in a victory for Muslim Brotherhood candidate Mohamed Morsi but legislative elections won by the Muslim Brotherhood are overturned by the courts. President Morsi tries to push through a new constitution but is ousted by a military coup on 3 July 2013. The military violently represses protests against the coup and outlaws the Muslim Brotherhood. As a result, an Islamist insurgency begins in the Sinai and southern Egypt.

	Complex	4/1983	—	Sikh militants declare a “war of independence” for Khalistan (Punjab and Haryana) in April 1983. Violence continues through the early 1990s until it is finally contained through concessions, elections, and repression (ETH 4/1983-10/1993). Mass protests against Indian rule in Kashmir erupt in violence in January 1990. Separatists of the Jammu and Kashmir Liberation Front, with support from neighboring Pakistan, continue to fight Indian authorities (ETH from 1/1990). The Maoist People’s War Group (PWG) rekindles an insurgency among “dalits” (Scheduled Tribes) in the forested regions in the east, mainly in Jharkhand, Chhattisgarh, and Andhra Pradesh. The PWG joined forces with a second group, the Maoist Communist Centre (MCC), to form the People’s Liberation Guerrilla Army in late 2004 (REV from 2/2001).
Indonesia	Complex	12/1949	8/2005	Islamic rebels in West Java, Aceh, and South Sulawesi challenge the secular state led by President Sukarno in an attempt to set up an Islamic regime, Darul Islam (REV 12/1949-10/1961). On March 14, 1957, Sukarno declares martial law and ends Indonesia’s liberal parliamentary system (ARC 3/1957-7/1959). Opponents to Sukarno’s regime attempt to set up an alternative government, the Revolutionary Government of the Republic of Indonesia (PRRI), in February 1958. The PRRI, or “Permesta,” rebellion is defeated by loyalist forces and an amnesty is declared in August 1961 (REV 2/1958-8/1961). Following an attempted communist coup, Muslim vigilantes and military forces massacre suspected Communists and ethnic-Chinese suspected of supporting the coup (GEN 10/1965-7/1966). Indonesian armed forces use indiscriminate force to subdue the Free Papua Movement (OPM) in the former Dutch-administered territory of West Irian (ETH 1/1967-12/1971). Revolutionary Front for an Independent East Timor (Fretilin) rebels fight to regain autonomy after Indonesian forces invade the former Portuguese colony in November 1975; large numbers of suspected Fretilin supporters are killed in massacres and by induced famines (ETH 11/1975-6/1991; GEN 12/1975-7/1992). Indonesia’s “transmigrasi” policy of resettling people from overcrowded Java rekindles OPM rebellion (ETH 3/1981-12/1984). East Timor (Fretilin) rebels resume autonomy fight in 1997; a popular referendum for the independence of East Timor in 1999 triggers intense violence and the introduction of international peacekeepers in September 1999 (ETH 2/1997-9/1999). Following the withdrawal of Indonesia armed forces from Aceh in August 1998, a repressed rebellion by the Free Aceh Movement (GAM) flares into open violence. The Aceh region was devastated by the December 2004 tsunami and, under international pressure, a peace settlement was reached in August 2005. (ETH 9/1998-8/2005). Kurds rebel for regional autonomy, fighting declines after 1984 to sporadic guerrilla activity (ETH 4/1979-8/1985). Moderates (National Front) and conservatives (IRP Islamic Revival Party) use terror and repression in competition for political control (REV 6/1981-1/1983). Both rebellions are crushed by loyalist forces (REV 3/1959-4/1959). Barzani's Kurdish Democratic Party revolts against General Qassim's regime and its successors in quest for regional autonomy (ETH 7/1961-3/1970). Fighting resumes in April 1974 as Kurds reject government autonomy plan that falls short of their demands (ETH 4/1974-3/1975). In order to suppress repeated rebellions for independent Kurdistan, military engages in large-scale massacres (GEN 6/1963-3/1975).
	Complex	9/1980	—	Some Iraqi Kurds take advantage of Iran-Iraq war and Iranian support to mount new rebellion for autonomy (ETH 9/1980-3/1988). In 1988 military and security forces launch Al-Anfal campaign of indiscriminate violence to eliminate or neutralize guerrillas and their supporters (GEN 3/1988-6/1991). Kurdish rebels take advantage of Iraq's defeat in Gulf war to establish a de facto Kurdish state, protected by US and British-led coalition forces, while Shi'ite rebellion in the south is repressed by Iraqi forces (ETH 3/1991-12/1998). US-led invasion in March 2003 succeeds in causing the collapse of the Saddam Hussein-led Ba'athist regime in early April 2003 (ARC 4/2003-4/2003), however, insurgent Sunni and Shia forces challenge new transitional regime and foreign occupation (ETH from 8/2003). After the withdrawal of US forces, Sunni militants allied with Sunni militants in neighboring Syria begin to escalate attacks in the west and, in 2014, seize control of large areas. Sunni extremists organized under the banner of the Islamic State systematically target Yazidis and Christians in territories under their control (GEN from 8/2014).
Israel	Ethnic War	12/1987	—	Palestinians rebel against Israel's repressive authority in the occupied territories of Gaza and West Bank and in Israel proper (the "intifada"). Violence begins again in September 2000 as implementation falls short of expectations.
Ivory Coast	Complex	9/2002	6/2011	Tensions had remained strong since a December 1999 military coup and a subsequent attempt by coup leader Gen. Guei to thwart new elections in October 2000. An army mutiny against President Gbagbo's government in September 2002 quickly spread and polarized the country. The main rebel faction, the Patriotic Movement of Ivory Coast (MPCI), took control of the largely Muslim north and two smaller rebel factions emerged in the west. Fighting largely ends in stalemate in April 2005 with French intervention and outside mediation (ETH 9/2002-4/2005). Ouagadougou peace accords are signed in March 2007 and establishment of a power-sharing government ends stand-off in April 2007. Disputed results of December 2010 presidential elections lead to a resumption of armed violence (REV 3/2011-4/2011). Rebel forces supporting the winning candidate in the December 2010 election, Allasane Ouattara, converge on the regime stronghold of Abidjan and capture President Gbagbo; Ouattara is installed as president in May 2011 (ARC 9/2002-6/2011).

Laos	Complex	1/1960	6/1979	Kong Le seizes power in an attempt to form a neutralist government; government remains locked in bitter struggle between neutralist, rightists, and communists until the ending of the war in neighboring Vietnam provides opportunity for the Lao People's Revolutionary Party (LPRP; Pathet Lao) to establish one-party rule (ARC 1/1960-12/1975). Military coup sparks sustained conflict as rebels fight unsuccessfully to overthrow rightist Somsanith regime (REV 9/1960-5/1962). Hmong (Meo) rebels encouraged to fight Pathet Lao; rebellion is suppressed after Pathet Lao takeover in 1975, no significant guerrilla activity after 1979 (ETH 7/1961-6/1979). 	Regime Change	5/1998	1/1999	Mass protests against results of May 1998 elections are joined by mutiny of soldiers and shutdown of government by civil servants; foreign troops impose order and new elections are proposed.
Liberia	Complex	11/1985	8/2003	Brig. Gen. Quiwonkpa leads the National Patriotic Front (NPF) in a failed coup against Samuel Doe following contested elections; Doe executes coup leader and targets supporters of the NPF in Monrovia (REV 11/1985). Repression by military against supporters of Charles Taylor leads to widespread civil war, collapse of Monrovia government, and assassination of President Doe. National Patriotic Forces of Liberia (NPFL) and militias of rival tribally based political groups compete for control of devastated society (REV 12/1989-7/1993; ARC 9/1990-8/1996). A loose coalition of forces, Liberians United for Reconciliation and Democracy (LURD), initiate an armed rebellion in Liberia from bases in neighboring Guinea in November 2000 with the expressed aim of toppling Charles Taylor from power (REV 11/2000-8/2003). Taylor resigns and leaves country on August 11, 2003, under intense international pressure; peace agreement is signed on August 14 and transitional government is established.
Libya	Complex	2/2011	—	Encouraged by popular uprisings in neighboring Arab countries Tunisia and Egypt, protests against Col. Gaddafi's autocratic regime take place in eastern urban centers in January 2011 and quickly escalate to armed insurrection as regime forces are deployed to repress dissent (REV 2/2011-10/2011). NATO warplanes are deployed against regime armed forces and command structures in support of a UN Security Council mandate to "protect the civilian population." Gaddafi's forces were driven from the capital, Tripoli, by rebel forces in early August 2011; the regime collapsed and Gaddafi was captured and killed by rebel fighters on 20 October 2011 (ARC from 8/2011). A National Transitional Council (NTC) proved unable to unite local militias leading to the emergence of rival authorities in the east, west, and south and an Islamist/secular contention for power (REV from 5/2014).

The entire Nepalese Royal family was killed on June 1, 2001, under suspicious circumstances and the former King's brother Gyanendra ascended to the throne. Peace talks with insurgent groups broke down in November 2001 and a state of emergency was declared. Under increasing challenges, the legislature was dissolved and, on Oct 4, 2002, King Gyanendra dismissed the entire government and replaced it with royalists. New elections were postponed indefinitely (ARC 10/2002), however, the royalist regime is unable to establish order. Country	Type of Conflict	Began	Ended	Brief Description
Nigeria	Complex	12/1964	1/1970	Ethnic violence sparked by democratic elections triggers military coup and abandonment of state's federal structure. Counter-coup by mostly Muslim officers from north results in reestablishment of federal system (ARC 12/1964-1/1966). Counter-coup and retaliatory massacres of Ibos in north precipitate secessionist civil war by Biafra, based on Ibos of eastern region (ETH 1/1966-1/1970). In response to the Biafra separatist rebellion, the Federal government imposes a blockage on May 30, 1967, that prevents food, medical supplies, and other forms of relief assistance from reaching affected populations. Large death toll result mainly from starvation and disease caused by severe deprivation (GEN 6/1967-1/1970).

The exploitation of oil resources in the region increased tensions and contributed to the formation of the militant Movement for the Emancipation of the Niger Delta (MEND). Systematic attacks on oil infrastructure began in January 2006. A major government offensive was launched in the area in May 2009; a government offer to reintegrate fighters was largely successful in limiting attacks in the Delta region since October 2010 (ETH 1/2006-10/2010). The emergence of "Boko Haram" Islamic militancy in the northeast triggers a government crackdown in July 2009; militants reorganize and continue attacks (REV from 7/2009).

Military imposes martial law and uses tanks, airpower, and artillery to indiscriminately attack civilians (GEN 3/1971-12/1971). Peru	Regime Change	7/1962	7/1962	Presidential elections are held in July 1962 pitting multiple candidates, including those from the three main parties; none of the candidates gains the required one-third of the vote. In a move to prevent an agreement between Odria and Haya de la Torre that would have resulted in Odria being named president by Congress, the military's Joint Chiefs of Staff oust President Prado on July 19, 1962, and install a junta led by (Chairman) Gen. Perez Godoy. Moves by Gen. Perez Godoy to gain personal power lead to his ouster by the other members of the junta on March 19, 1963, and a rescheduling of presidential elections for July 1963.
	Regime Change	10/1968	10/1968	President Belaunde's gridlocked democratic government overthrown in populist military coup. Congress dissolved and statist policy of socioeconomic reform pursued.

Muslim Moros mount guerrilla war for independence; autonomy agreement largely ends fighting. Militant factions continue to wage low-level insurgency (ETH from 10/1972). Moro resistance to Christian settlement and support for separatist guerrillas results in military and paramilitary terror tactics in which many Moros die in massacres and napalm bombings (GEN 9/1972-6/1976).
Romania	Revolutionary War	12/1989	12/1989	Broad anti-Ceausescu coalition (National Salvation Front) overthrows Stalinist regime.
Russia	Complex	8/1994	—	In August 1994, the Provisional Council of Chechnya attempts a coup to oust nationalist leader of Chechnya, President Dudayev. Civil war ensues and Russian troops are called in to restore order. Intense fighting results in military stalemate; truce agreement is reached in August 1996 (ETH 8/1994-8/1996). Attempts by Chechen fighters to extend control to neighboring Dagestan in August 1999 trigger new war in Chechnya as Russian forces attempt to impose central authority over the autonomous province (ETH 8/1999-7/2006). The September 2004 terrorist attack on a school in Beslan leads to a decline in support for the extremists and armed conflict largely abates by July 2006. Islamist militants in the eastern Trans-Caucasus region of Russia bordering on Georgia (Chechnya, Dagestan, and Ingushetia) regrouped and have been conducting systematic and sustained attacks in the region since May 2008 (ETH from 5/2008).
Rwanda	Complex	11/1963	11/1966	Cross-border incursions by Tutsi rebels prompt local Hutu officials to orchestrate vengeance attacks and massacres by Hutus, leading to flight of 200,000 Tutsi refugees (ETH 11/1963-11/1966; GEN 12/1963-6/1964).
	Complex	10/1990	7/2001	Tutsi exiles of RPF launch successive attacks from Uganda prompting escalating violence between Hutu and Tutsi fighters (ETH 10/1990-12/1998). Hutu-dominated military government promises return to democratic rule, and transitional government is established. When President Habyarimana's aircraft is shot down in April 1994, Hutu government deploys military and armed gangs to systematically slaughter Tutsis and Hutu moderates (GEN 4/1994-7/1994). Ethnic-Tutsi RPF (Rwandan Patriotic Front) invades and seizes control of government by July 1994 (ARC 4/1994-7/1994). Hutu militias (Inter-a-hamwe) are driven into neighboring regions, namely the DRC and Uganda, and fighting within Rwanda largely subsides by end of 1998. Hutu fighters launch a major attack in northwestern Rwanda from bases in the DRC in May 2001 but the attack is quickly crushed by the Rwandan Patriotic Army (ETH 5/2001-7/2001).
Senegal	Regime Change	12/1962	3/1963	Increasing tensions between President Senghor and his prime minister lead to failed coup attempt by Prime Minister Dia. Senghor arrests Dia, strengthens constitutional powers of presidency, and establishes one-party rule.
	Ethnic War	9/1992	12/1999	Violence increases in Casamance region as Casamancais (MFDC) rebels intensify separatist campaign. Government talks with Movement of Casamance Democratic Forces (MFDC) produce December 1999 ceasefire.

Sierra Leone	Complex	3/1967	4/1971	Regional factionalism within two-party democratic system triggers successful military coup after Siaka Stevens (a Limba) defeats Albert Margai (a Mende) (ARC 3/1967). President Stevens declares himself executive president and systematically restricts democratic opposition (ARC 4/1971).
	Complex	3/1991	3/2002	Revolutionary United Front (RUF) mobilizes rural peoples, mainly Temne, in armed rebellion that devastates much of country. Various peace agreements and strong international pressure eventually lead to an end of fighting and disarmament of the RUF rebels (REV 3/1991-7/2001). Mutinous soldiers side with RUF guerrillas to overthrow President Kabbah in May 1997. Junta is defeated by ECOWAS troops in February 1998 but the new government was unable to establish central authority due to ongoing civil warfare. Mutinous soldiers side with RUF guerrillas to overthrow President Kabbah. Junta is defeated by ECOMOG in February 1998 but violence continues. Brokered peace agreement is reached between Kabbah government and RUF forces in May 2001 and State of Emergency is lifted in March 2002. (ARC 5/1997-3/2002).
Singapore	Regime Change	9/1963	8/1965	Singapore became a self-governing parliamentary republic in 1959; in 1963 it joined the Malaysian Federation. Singapore's ethnic-Chinese majority became uncomfortable with the ethnic-Malay dominated government of Malaysia and left the federation in 1965. Lee Kwan Yew, head of the People's Action party establishes one-party, personalistic rule.
Solomon Islands	Regime Change	6/2000	7/2003	Since being brought in by US forces to help drive out remnants of the Japanese army from Guadalcanal in 1942, Malaita Islanders remained politically and economically active on the island and in the capital city Honiara. Native Isatabu Islanders (their name for Guadalcanal) mobilized their resentment in the 1990s and demanded special compensation from the central government for hosting the capital. When that was denied, local militias (Isatabu Freedom Fighters) were formed to intimidate and drive Malaitans out of the island. Many Malaitans fled to Honiara and a militant group formed to protect them: the Malaita Eagles Force (MEF). Clashes between the militias in the late 1990s culminated in a MEF seizure of the capital on June 5, 2000, and the forced resignation of Prime Minister Ulufa'alu. Anarchy ensued until Australia agreed to lead a peace-keeping force reestablish security and disarm the militias; the Regional Assistance Mission to the Solomon Islands (RAMSI) deployed on July 24, 2003.
Somalia	Regime Change	10/1969	10/1969	Increasingly autocratic style of elected government triggers clan-based violence. Military intervenes and establishes one-party socialist state.
	Complex	5/1988	—	Siad Barre regime is increasingly challenged by rebellions of Somali National Movement, based on northern Issaq clan, and United Somali Congress, based on southern Hawiye clan. The rise of Islamist militias prolonged the fighting and, in 2006, the Islamic Courts Union briefly seized control of the capital and attempted to establish an Islamic regime (ETH from 5/1988; REV 5/1988-8/1994). Repression and anti-insurgency operations by Barre forces cause large-scale civilian deaths (GEN 5/1988-1/1991). Barre regime collapses but chronic violence among clan-based warlords in south prevented establishment of effective central government. Combined military interventions by AU, Ethiopian, and Kenyan forces succeeded in dislodging the remaining al Shabab Islamist militants from major cities, allowing the formation of a new central government in September 2012. (ARC 1/1991-9/2012).
South Africa	Complex	8/1984	6/1996	Violent protests in black townships over poor economic conditions and lack of political rights lead to dismantling of apartheid policies and democratic elections won by ANC (African National Congress) (REV 8/1984-7/1990). Zulu Inkatha movement wars with ANC supporters for political control in Natal, initially with clandestine support from Afrikaner government's security forces (ETH 1/1987-6/1996).

Country	Type of Conflict	Began	Ended	Brief Description
South Sudan	Complex	7/2011	—	With the country's independence, tribal rivalry between ethnic-Murle and ethnic-Nuer tribes in Jonglei state escalated into organized communal clashes. A dissident officer in the Sudan People's Liberation Army, David Yau Yau, organized a largely ethnic-Murle rebel group to challenge central authority (ETH from 7/2011). A long-standing rivalry between President Salva Kiir, an ethnic-Dinka, and Vice President Riek Machar, an ethnic-Nuer, led to the President's decision to remove Machar from office and dismiss the unity cabinet that had governed since the country's independence in July 2011. Fighting between army factions loyal to the rival leaders broke out on 15 December 2013 and armed violence quickly spread across the country (ETH from 12/2013 leading to a collapse of central authority (ARC from 12/2013).
Sri Lanka	Complex	7/1983	5/2009	Ethnic-Tamil grievances against pro-Sinhalese governmental policies erupt into secessionist civil war in the northeast (ETH 7/1983-5/2009). Revolutionary campaign by Marxist Sinhalese JVP prompts government to unleash military and police death squads to eliminate JVP challenge (REV 7/1987-12/1989; GEN 7/1989-1/1990). Fighting ends with a ceasefire agreement in February 2002 and peace negotiations but re-ignites in April 2004 with fighting involving the government-backed "Karuna faction" among Tamil militias. In January 2008, the government unilaterally withdrew from the cease-fire agreement and began an offensive to reclaim LTTE-controlled territories. In September 2008, the government informed the UN that it would no longer guarantee the safety of humanitarian organizations in Tamil areas and most withdrew. The final offensive began in January 2009 and ended in May 2009 with the indiscriminate decimation of the LTTE who had taken refuge in civilian "safe zones" (GEN 9/2008-5/2009).
Sudan	Complex	10/1956	3/1972	Anyanya rebellion by non-Muslim population of southern Sudan against Muslim-dominated government ends with 1972 autonomy agreement (ETH 10/1956-3/1972). Government uses indiscriminate violence against civilian Southerners thought to support secessionist movement (GEN 10/1956-3/1972). Parliamentary democracy overthrown in 1958 military coup. Constitution abrogated and opposition parties banned as General Abbud consolidates political power (ARC 11/1958). Democratic government reestablished in 1964 but overthrown by leftwing military officers in 1969. Col. Numeiri establishes one-party state after failed coup by Communist elements within ruling military coalition (ARC 5/1969-10/1971).
	Complex	7/1983	—	Southern rebellion resumes under SPLA (Sudan People's Liberation Army) leadership after Muslim government violates autonomy agreement; in 1991 SPLA's breakup leads to new inter-communal violence within south (ETH 7/1983-10/2002). Non-Muslim supporters of secession are targeted for destruction by indiscriminate military attacks, massacres by government-supported tribal militias, and government-induced privation and population displacement; targeting of civilian population ends in October 2002 as part of peace talks and opening of conflict areas to relief agencies (GEN 9/1983-10/2002). In 1989 military overthrows democratic government after attempts to reduce the influence of religion in politics. Legislature is dissolved and non-fundamentalist parties banned as Islamic state is established (ARC 6/1989). Peace process leads to effective cease-fire in south in October 2002 and progressive agreements on power and revenue sharing. Rebellion breaks out in Darfur region in western Sudan in February 2003 followed by army offensive in March; violence quickly escalates as local Arab militias take over anti-insurgency role (ETH from 2/2003). Government backs local, Arab janjaweed militias and encourages them to terrorize suspected supporters of separatist rebels; victims groups include Fur, Zaghawa, Masaleit, and other non-Arab peoples of the Darfur region (GEN 7/2003-8/2011). With South Sudan preparing for independence in July 2011, the Sudan government ordered the disarmament of all fighters belonging to the Sudan People's Liberation Army-North (SPLA-N); these forces were concentrated in Blue Nile and South Kordofan states on the border between north and south. Leaders of the militias refused and Sudan armed forces initiated an offensive to disarm the fighters in June 2011 (ETH from 6/2011).

Country	Type of Conflict	Began	Ended	Brief Description
Suriname	Regime Change	2/1980	3/1982	Deep-rooted ethnic divisions, patronage, poor economic performance, high unemployment, interference by émigré groups, and serious political disagreements over policies and governance had rendered the newly independent country nearly ungovernable; the elected parliamentary government was forced out by military forces on 24 February 1980. Similarly sharp divisions in the military contributed to the eventual emergence of a personalistic, military dictatorship under Col. Bouterse, who imposed a martial regime on 17 March 1982.
Swaziland	Regime Change	4/1973	4/1973	King Sobhuza dissolves parliament, outlaws all forms of political organization, and assumes all powers of government.
Syria	Regime Change	9/1961	2/1966	Syria's experiments with parliamentary government and union with Egypt (United Arab Republic) end with a September 1961 military coup. Following that initial coup, there are several attempts to reestablish a parliamentary system but the process is thwarted by severe factionalism. The situation is not stabilized until a February 1966 coup puts Hafiz in power and leads to establishment of one-party state under neo-Ba'athist rule.
	Complex	6/1979	2/1982	Militants of the Muslim Brotherhood initiate a terror and assassination campaign against the Alawite-dominated, Baathist regime. Following a coup attempt in January 1982, government forces move to crush the militants' stronghold in Hama in February 1982 (REV 6/1979-2/1982; GEN 4/1981-2/1982).
	Ethnic War	3/2011	—	Popular protests among Syria's majority Sunni population broke out in March 2011 against the minority Alawite-dominated regime of Bashar al Assad. Protests were answered by a violent crackdown by security forces. The opposition countered by forming a Free Syria Army. Violence escalated despite international efforts to broker reforms.
Tajikistan	Revolutionary War	4/1992	12/1998	Post-Soviet government transition halted as civil war plagues ethnically and regionally diverse country. Most of the fighting decreases with 1997 peace accord and largely ends by December 1998.
Thailand	Complex	11/1965	12/1983	A Maoist insurgency begins in November 1965 in outlying regions and increases through the 1970s (REV 11/1965-12/1983). Insurgency collapses in 1983 amid mass defections. Prime Minister Thanom executes coup against his own government, thereby ending three-year experiment with limited parliamentary democracy (ARC 11/1971). Persistent guerrilla insurgency and open warfare between leftist students and rightist paramilitary groups triggers military coup; military establishes hard-line civilian government that restricts political liberties and civil rights (ARC 10/1976).
	Complex	1/2004	—	Although sporadic attacks had occurred since 2001, the long-simmering conflict between Thai authorities and Muslim separatists in provinces along the southern border with Malaysia escalated to serious violence in January 2004 (ETH from 1/2004). A growing division between the rural, populist support base of Prime Minister Thaksin Shinawatra and the urban elites becomes highly factionalized following the January 23, 2006, sale of the Thaksin family's interests in the Shin Corporation for US$1.6 billion. On February 24, 2006, Thaksin dissolved the National Assembly and called new elections in response to increasing protests demanding his resignation; the opposition quickly announced that they would boycott the elections. The confrontation continued to escalate following the victory by Thaksin's Thai Rak Thai party in the uncontested April 2 elections, which was subsequently declared invalid by the Constitutional Court. After Thaksin failed to honor his promise to resign his leadership, the Thai military ousted his government on September 19, 2006, while Thaksin was out of the country on an official visit (ARC 9/2006). Civilian government is re-established; however, near continuous confrontations between "red shirts" and "yellow shirts" leads to paralysis of the government led by Yingluck Shinawatra. The military declared martial law on 20 May and took control of the government on 22 May 2014; a military government led by Gen. Prayuth Chan-ocha was imposed (ARC 5/2014).
Turkey	Regime Change	4/1971	4/1971	Amid widespread social unrest, military oversees resignation of leftwing civilian government and initiates period of "guided democracy" under "above party" administrators.

Political Instability Task Force (PITF) Consolidated Problem Set, Historical State Armed Conflicts and Regime Crises, 1955-2016¹

Country	Type of Conflict	Began	Ended	Brief Description
	Complex	9/1980	—	Parliamentary instability and widespread social unrest triggers military coup. Political activity banned as military lays groundwork for restoration of democracy under military supervision (ARC 9/1980). Kurds of militant PKK (Kurdistan Workers' Party) engage in protracted conflict with Turkish authorities in quest for independence, provoking deadly counterinsurgency campaigns (ETH 8/1984-2/2000). Following the capture of leader Ocalan, PKK renounces violence in February 2000. Emboldened by the establishment of an autonomous Kurdish area in neighboring Iraq (which provides refuge and support), Kurdish militants renounce their unilateral cease-fire in June 2004 and renew attacks in Turkey (ETH from 6/2004). Having voiced his desire to alter the constitution to make Turkey a presidential system, the leader of the Islamic Justice and Development Party (AKP) Recep Tayyip Erdoğan has concentrated personal authority after gaining election as president on 28 August 2014 and used a failed coup attempt on 15 July 2016 as a pretense to continue, widen, and deepen his systematic elimination of opposition to his personal ambitions for Turkey (ARC 8/2014-7/2016).
Uganda	Complex	4/1966	5/2006	Allegations of corruption and persistent ethnic tensions within federal democracy leads to suspension of constitution, centralization of political authority, and creation of de facto one-party state under control of President Obote (ARC 4/1966-12/1969). A rebellion by followers of the Kabaka of Buganda breaks out in May 1966 over loss of regional autonomy and tribal prerogatives and is quickly suppressed by loyalist forces (ETH 5/1966). Gen. Idi Amin seizes power in 1971 and systematically exterminates political opponents and personal enemies. Tribes closely associated with his predecessor also are targeted (GEN 2/1971-4/1979). After Amin is overthrown by Tanzanian intervention, Obote again takes power. Following ouster of Amin, his tribal supporters begin campaign of banditry and rebellion. Langi and Acholi peoples continue rebellion with support from Sudan; December 1999 agreement between Sudan and Uganda (Nairobi Accords) ends support and rebel activity lessens for a time but reignites when Ugandan troops enter Sudan in April 2002 to attack Lord's Resistance Army (LRA) rebel bases. Peace talks resume and an effective cease-fire is implemented in May 2006 while talks continue (ETH 10/1980-5/2006). Obote's other political and tribal rivals are slaughtered on massive scale (GEN 12/1980-1/1986). Widespread corruption, repression, and ethnic conflict lead to overthrow of Obote's military-backed civilian regime by General Museveni's National Resistance Army (REV 1/1983-12/1985; ARC 7/1985-1/1986).
Ukraine	Complex	3/2014	—	Following the forced resignation of pro-Russian President Viktor Yanukovich on 22 February 2014, the Crimea votes to secede and is annexed by Russia (ARC 3/2014); ethnic-Russians in the eastern regions of Ukraine organize militias to enforce regional autonomy (ETH from 4/2014).
United Kingdom	Ethnic War	1/1971	10/1982	Catholic IRA (Irish Republican Army) uses terror against British forces and militant Protestants in quest for union with Republic of Ireland. Violence begins to subside in late 1970s and early 1980s as all sides search for alternatives to violence, eventually culminating in October 1994 peace agreement.
Uruguay	Regime Change	11/1971	2/1973	Two-party democracy is undermined by Tupamaro's campaign of urban guerrilla warfare. Army mutiny leads to dissolution of Congress and creation of civilian-military rule.
USSR (Soviet Union)	Regime Change	8/1991	12/1991	Popular front movements win control of Baltic republic governments and declare sovereignty. Russian Republic (RSFSR) Congress adopts declaration of sovereignty, and Russian President Boris Yeltsin uses his new position of power to challenge authority of Gorbachev. Failed coup by Communist hard-liners leads to formal dissolution of USSR.
Vietnam, South	Complex	1/1958	4/1975	South Vietnamese communists, supported by North Vietnam, rebel against regime; war becomes internationalized civil war in 1965 (REV 1/1958-4/1975); fighting continues until South Vietnamese government falls and Vietnam is reunified in 1975. Government military and paramilitary forces engage in killings, reprisals, and bombardments against villagers supporting Viet Cong (GEN 1/1965-4/1975).
Yemen, North	Revolutionary War	9/1962	1/1970	Royalist and Republican forces battle for control of government. Rival tribes join on opposite sides.
Yemen, South	Revolutionary War	1/1986	2/1986	Rival factions in the Yemen Socialist Party (YSP) battle for control of government.

Political Instability Task Force (PITF) Consolidated Problem Set, Historical State Armed Conflicts and Regime Crises, 1955-2016¹

Country	Type of Conflict	Began	Ended	Brief Description
Yemen	Revolutionary War	4/1994	7/1994	Transition toward unified Yemen undermined by factional fighting, finally erupting with southern declaration of secession in May 1994. Rebellion quickly collapses when northern forces capture Aden in July 1994.
	Complex	6/2004	—	Followers of dissident cleric Husain Badr al-Din al-Huthi create a stronghold in Saada; government forces attack In June 2004. Leader al-Huthi is killed in September 2004, however, serious fighting flares again in early 2005 (REV 6/2004-12/2014). Widespread discontent with the regime of President Ali Abdullah Saleh sparks major demonstrations beginning in late January 2011. The protests continue and lead to a spilt in the ruling elites and international pressure for Saleh to transfer power to an interim government. Negotiations fail and violence increases, particularly in the south where support for secession has remained strong since Yemen's unification in May 1990. Militants associated with al Qaeda of the Arabia Peninsula (AQAP) and southern secessionists complicate local dynamics and trigger a US military response (REV 5/2011-12/2014). Houthi (Zaydi) rebels join forces with supporters of former President Ali Abdullah Saleh to seize control of the capital, Sanaa, forcing the government of Interim President Mansur Hadi to flee (ARC from 9/2014). Supporters of the Hadi government establish a base in Aden and civil ensues. Hadi forces are supported militarily by a coalition forces led by Saudi Arabia (REV from 1/2015).
Yugoslavia	Complex	6/1991	1/1992	Slovenes and Croats fight wars of independence against Yugoslav federal troops (ETH 6/1991-1/1992). Federated Republic disintegrates after Communist government allows multiparty elections and republic administrations vote to secede from union (ARC 6/1991-7/1991).
	Complex	2/1998	6/1999	President Milosevic rescinds Kosovo autonomy in 1989, leading to a 1990 declaration of independence by ethnic Albanians, who establish shadow government and form Kosovo Liberation Army (KLA) in 1996. KLA mobilizes resistance to Serbian control of Kosovo, precipitating crackdown by Yugoslav Army in February 1998. Sustained NATO bombing campaign forces Yugoslavia to accept ceasefire and NATO administration of Kosovo in June 1999 (ETH 2/1998-6/1999). Serb militias and Yugoslav armed forces target ethnic Albanians (GEN 2/1998-6/1999).
Zambia	Complex	7/1964	12/1972	Fighting breaks out in July 1964 when followers of the militant, anarchist Lumpa Church defy UNLP government. Clashes continue until Lumpa leaders, having voluntarily surrendered, are released in September (REV 7/1964-9/1964). Democratic institutions are weakened when political opposition to President Kaunda is restricted. Kaunda consolidates his political authority with formal establishment of one-party state (ARC 8/1968-12/1972).
	Regime Change	11/1996	11/1996	Constitutional amendments disqualify main opposition leader; President Chiluba easily wins subsequent elections.
Zimbabwe	Complex	12/1972	12/1987	White-dominated government fights black nationalists of ZAPU (Zimbabwe African People's Union) and ZANU (Zimbabwe African National Union), leading to negotiated settlement and black majority government (REV 12/1972-12/1979). Ndebele people initiate rioting and local rebellions against Shona-dominated ZANU governing coalition (ETH 6/1981-12/1987). Ethnic tensions and crackdown on political opposition weaken Zimbabwe's fragile democratic institutions. Merger of ZAPU with ruling ZANU effectively establishes one-party system (ARC 12/1987).

Notes:

1. The PITF Problem Set list of “Historical Conflicts, Crises, and Transitions” is an updated and enhanced version of earlier versions that first appeared in Esty, Gurr, Goldstone, Surko, and Unger, Working Papers: State Failure Task Force Report (McLean, VA: Science Applications International Corporation, November 1995), and subsequently in the second (July 1998) and third (September 2000) State Failure Task Force reports. A comprehensive review of cases was undertaken in 2000-2001 and substantial revisions to cases were made, particularly in regard to beginning and end dates. Updates and enhancements were undertaken by researchers under the direction of Monty G. Marshall and the refined version first appeared in Jack A. Goldstone, Ted Robert Gurr, Barbara Harff,

Marc A. Levy, Monty G. Marshall, Robert H. Bates, David L. Epstein, Colin H. Kahl, Thomas M. Parris, John C. Ulfelder, Mark Woodward, and Michael Lustik, Political Instability Task Force Report: Phase IV Findings (McLean, VA: Science Applications International Corporation, November 2003) and in all subsequent reports. Area experts have reviewed the list on several occasions; several cases were added, deleted, or modified on their recommendation. Specific information on individual cases and coding rules can be found on the Political Instability Task Force (PITF) Web site: <http://globalpolicy.gmu.edu/pitf> or the Center for Systemic Peace Web site: <http://www.systemicpeace.org/inscr/inscr.htm>. The current version of the PITF Problem Set covers the years 1955-2016; the accompanying codebook version is dated 21 June 2017.

2. Complex events are made up of two or more temporally linked wars and crises. If events overlap or if five years or less separate the end of one event and the onset of the next distinct event, they are combined into complex events (subsequent flareups of events are considered continuations). The specific types of events and their dates, if different from the dates of the complex event, are shown in parentheses after the description.
3. A dash in place of an ending date indicates a failure that is ongoing as of December 31, 2016.
4. ARC = Adverse Regime Change; ETH = Ethnic War; REV = Revolutionary War; GEN = Genocide/politicide.
5. Some problem cases may have begun prior to the officially recognized date of independence in some former colonial and secessionist states. In general, changes in state structures (i.e., the basic units of analysis) present special difficulties in analyzing issues of continuity and change in political behavior and complex societal conflict processes. Problem cases that coincide with the independence of states are not used in modeling the factors associated with the start of new problems.
6. The dissolution of the Pakistani union (state code PKS) in December 1971 produces a discontinuity in the nature of the Pakistan state. As such, the subsequent complex failure in (formerly West) Pakistan (state code PAK) that begins in February 1973 is considered to be unrelated to the previous complex state failure, despite the fact that it occurs within five years of the ending of the earlier failure, and is coded as a separate consolidated event.
