

About the Author

Monty G. Marshall established and directs the Center for Systemic Peace. He is currently a faculty research associate with the Center for International Development and Conflict Management (CIDCM) at the University of Maryland, College Park. He was the Project Coordinator for the Minorities at Risk Project from its inception in 1988 through completion of its first phase of research in 1990 and is once again working with that important project at CIDCM. He is also a consultant with the United States government's State Failure Task Force and heads its Intervention Project. Dr. Marshall received his doctoral degree from The University of Iowa where he held an Iowa Fellowship.